ASPHALTPAVEMENT.ORG/ AWARDS

NAPA's Awards Program consists of the Quality in Construction Awards and Operational Excellence Awards. Award-winning companies gain recognition at the national and local level for being the best at what they do.

The Environmental Leadership Award recognizes asphalt plants committed to sustainability and environmental responsibility. The Community Involvement Award honors asphalt industry leaders dedicated to community outreach.

NAPA's Quality in Construction Awards recognize exemplary asphalt pavements — trails, bike paths, roadways, interstates, parking lots, recreational facilities, airports — that meet quality assurance/quality control benchmarking standards. All award winners submit quantifiable data, including test results and quality control standards to ensure the industry is delivering a high-quality product to road owners and the traveling public. Submissions for this national award are rated by independent pavement engineers.

In addition, some contractors may be recognized with top honors. After undergoing evaluation by independent pavement engineers, the 10 highest ranked under 50,000 tons paving projects are honored with a special recognition — the Larry H. Lemon Award. The Ray Brown Airport Pavement Award honors the airfield paving project with the highest quality assurance/quality control scores. Finally, the Sheldon G. Hayes Award is based on the average scores of three rounds of testing — an engineering review by independent pavement engineers, IRI testing, and a visual inspection a year after construction has been completed. The top-rated highway pavement utilizing a minimum of 50,000 tons of asphalt receives the Sheldon G. Hayes Award.
